SUBJECT: Intelligence Briefing of Messrs. Kennedy and Coyne.

TO: PARIS, ROME.

Reference is made to the Department's instruction CA-9226 dated May 21, 1956.

It is anticipated that the members of the committee will be interested in discussing all phases of intelligence collection methods with the appropriate Embassy officers. The following topics indicate some of the phases of intelligence reporting on which the committee may wish to be informed on collecting capabilities and potential:

a. Political reporting - the extent to which political intelligence is obtained under the regular political reporting program of the Embassy; the nature and extent of cooperation between the reporting officers and the armed services attaches and other reporting officers engaged in complementary reporting.

b. Economic reporting - the collection of economic intelligence under the regular CERP program, East-West trade control reporting and observation.

c. Peripheral reporting - the nature and extent of peripheral reporting performed at the post; the potential for reporting on the USSR and Satellite matters which exists through visitors, refugees, emigres, liaison with the Foreign Office, and other means.

d. Biographic reporting - the role of biographic reporting and its relationship to the reporting of political intelligence.

e. Publications and map procurement - the relation of the publications and map procurement programs to the field of intelligence collection at the post.

TO: PARIS, ROME

Mr. Joseph P. Kennedy (former U.S. Ambassador to Great Britain), now a member of the President's Board of Consultants on Foreign Intelligence Activities, accompanied by Mr. J. Patrick Coyne, member of the NSC staff, will arrive in Paris June 4 and Rome June 11, remaining several days at each place in connection with the business of the President's Board. The Board was established by Executive Order on February 6, 1956 under the chairmanship of Dr. James R. Killian, President of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, to review the foreign intelligence activities of the Government. Each Embassy is requested to arrange for appropriate briefings, conferences, and consultations to inform Mr. Kennedy and Mr. Coyne fully on all intelligence and directly related activities being conducted by the U.S. in the country concerned.

[Redacted]

Each Embassy is requested to prepare,

25X1

[Redacted] a tentative schedule for the presentation which can be discussed with Mr. Kennedy upon his arrival. By separate instruction the Department is transmitting some suggestions on Department of State intelligence activities in which Mr. Kennedy and Mr. Coyne will be interested.
